SCHOOL REPORT.

The present state of uncertainty as to the construction and even the continuance of the new law relating to schools, and the belief that a large majority of our fellow townsmen favor a close adherence to the old method, have led us to continue the schools at the old points and in the old school houses. The only change made in this respect was the union of No. 4 with No. 9, for the school year. Some of the school buildings greatly need repair, but the board desired further advisement by the town before doing anything in the matter beyond such slight repairs as were absolutely necessary to fit them for present use.

In the matter of text books, those of the preceding year were all retained, and "Scudder's History of the United States" added to the list. The new system lays upon the board, with other cares and responsibilities, that of procuring good teachers. This is a difficult and delicate duty. We were very solicitous to satisfy all reasonable expectation, and labored hard to procure the best teachers our opportunities and the means at our disposal would permit. It is for others to judge of the result. We were not always successful in getting the teachers we sought, but in reviewing the year we feel that it is due our teachers as a whole to say that in the judgment of the board they did good work, and we take great pleasure in commending them for their fidelity and skill. The great interest in school work centers in the scholars, and it is very gratifying to be able to report excellent work on their part. The scholars were for the most part orderly and studious, and made what seemed to the board a very decided and satisfactory advance in their studies through the year. As good order and respect for the teacher's authority are essential to a good school, we trust that parents and guardians will heartily support the teachers in this direction. We are sorry to be obliged to notice some defect in this matter the last year. We beg leave to call the attention of parents, especially in the outer districts, to one thing further. We believe they desire to have the schools kept up in the old places. That this may be done, it is very important that all children of suitable age in these districts be sent to school if possible, and for the whole time. It is discouraging, and seems to the board a waste of resources, to support a school for the full term with only one or two scholars.

In conclusion, we gladly notice the interest manifested by parents and friends in the welfare of the schools during the year, and desire to express our hearty appreciation of the kindness we have everywhere received in the discharge of our official duties.

SPECIAL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Miss Mary L. Knight, teacher of both spring and fall terms. This large and interesting school demands skill and energy for its successful management. These qualities were conspicuous in Miss Knight, and under her leadership the school did good and satisfactory work through the year.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

This school, after a suspension of four years, revived the past year with a force of three scholars. In the distribution of time we assigned it two terms of five weeks each. The first, taught by Mr. Albert G. Stearns; the second by Miss Nettie I. A. Stearns. It was for both a first experience in teaching, but both were greatly liked by scholars and parents, and gave entire satisfaction to the board. We were much pleased with the conduct of the school, and surprised at the progress made by the little scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

This is a capable school, and comes second in point of numbers. Miss Lizzie A. Tyrrel taught the spring term. She was not quite acceptable to all concerned, but we have a high opinion of her competency and fidelity as a teacher, and entirely approve her purpose to maintain order and respect for authority in the school. No school can prosper without these. Notwithstanding the disadvantage under which Miss Tyrrel labored from lack of full sympathy, the school made a good showing of work under her teaching.

Mr. Frank K. Wilkins taught the fall term. It was a first experience, and as such did him credit. He was deservedly popular with pupils and parents. The work done was good; better order and closer application in the school would have made it better.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

This is one of our best and most advanced schools. Miss Nellie J. Dodge taught the spring term. It was her first experience, and showed her to possess a very fine capacity for teaching. Further study and more experience will make her, we think, a very superior teacher. In most of their studies the scholars made excellent progress under her guidance.

Miss Lizzie A. Tyrrel taught the fall term. The work done in the school under her instruction was excellent. Both these teachers insisted on good order, and the closing examinations showed that thorough and satisfactory work had been done through the year.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

This pleasant school, by shortening its term, secured the teacher of its choice—Miss Lettie W. Goodhue—for the school year. We do not think it could have done better. The order in the school and the progress in studies gave entire satisfaction.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

This is the best school building, and one of the pleasantest schools in town. Mr. Maro S. Brooks taught the spring term, and Miss Lizzie I. Crockett the fall term. Both were young beginners in teaching. Both failed to give full satisfaction in the manner of conducting the school, while both were greatly liked by most of those concerned. To the board, the school, during both terms, appeared to be well ordered and prosperous. The showing at the close of Mr. Brooks' term was particularly bright and good. We were pleased with what we saw of methods and discipline on the part of both these teachers, and thought the scholars did very good work and made very commendable progress under both.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

This school has of late greatly declined in numbers, and from one of the largest has become one of the smallest of our schools. Its average attendance the last term was the lowest in town. Its few scholars were conducted through the school year by one of our best and most experienced teachers—Miss Ella C. Ware—who did all she could for them, and with very good success on the part of those who were regularly present. But we feel that more should have attended, and that the attendance of the few should have been more constant.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

This school was reinforced this year by the scholars from No. 4. These schools combined very happily, and went forward with entire harmony and satisfaction, under the leadership of Miss Sarah F. Weston, for the school year. This school, always interesting, was rendered more so by this enlargement. The order was of the best, and the work done, as evinced by the examinations, such as to reflect great credit on both teacher and scholars.

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT.

WINTER TERM, 1886-1887.

Fellow Citizens: Concerning our high school, your committee beg leave to present the following brief statement:

Paid Mr. Edwin B. Frost for services as principal, 11 weeks, including board,	$127 50
Paid Miss Lettie N. Goodhue for services as assistant teacher, including board,	44 00
Paid for wood and fitting for stove—three cords, at $5.00 per cord,	15 00
Paid for rent of school room,	11 00
Paid for services of janitor,	5 00
Paid for printing bills,	1 00
	<hr/>	$203 50
Received of town treasurer,	200 00
Received as tuition,	3 50
	<hr/>	$203 50

As compared with former years, we have the pleasure of reporting both a larger number of pupils—47—and a much higher average attendance—within a fraction of 45. This argues well for the popular appreciation of our high school, and it is a high compliment to the merits of the teachers.

In discipline, general deportment and progress in study, this last term has met our highest expectations, being in all respects as good, and in some particulars better, than in former years.

Mr. Frost is a young gentleman of rare scholarship, and, judging him by the quality of his work, we think he possesses all the elements of a successful teacher.

Miss Goodhue has long been known as a good teacher, and in her new relations as assistant, she fully sustained her former reputation.

As it is impossible to have a good school without the faithful co-operation of the pupils, we will add that the children deserve well of their teachers and parents, and we take much pleasure in thanking them publicly for their general good conduct and studious habits.

It is too late in the day to present an argument to the people of Hancock in favor of popular education. You fully realize the fact that the education of our children is as much a matter necessity as food, and clothing, and shelter. But as bread and butter may sometimes be too dear, so may education cost too much money, and consequently be beyond our reach; therefore we invite your careful attention to the great economy of educating our children at home, rather than abroad. Our last term of high school cost the town only $200, while the same number of pupils sent to some neighboring academy would have cost not less than $2,250. This will make a great difference in our pockets, yet the actual advantage gained would be about the same at home as abroad.

If the above views, in your judgment, are correct, we hope you will continue to deal generously with the high school, and place a good education within the reach of all. By so doing the old town of Hancock may see the day she will greatly rejoice in the glory and fame of her sons and daughters.

Respectfully submitted,
